

Pavan Parmar is the Northwest Region Vice President and will be a junior at Squalicum High School. She has been an FBLA member for the past two years and she is so grateful for the experiences, memories, and connections the organization has given her. She hopes to use these experiences and connections in order to build her dream business and to support her goal of becoming a Pediatric Neuro-Oncologist.

As someone who was afraid to speak up in class or socialize with others outside her friend group, Pavan was able to use FBLA to become a well-rounded leader. After participating in events and engaging with a large group, she learned to be comfortable around a group of leaders that she didn't know. Furthermore, she was able to deliver a speech in front of a whole region in order to be given the opportunity to serve as Vice President. Pavan hopes to use her communication and leadership skills to improve the Northwest Region, as well as continue to build on the success past leaders have worked hard for. Pavan is so excited to see what Washington FBLA has in store this next year, and even more excited to serve as your next Northwest Region Vice President!
