

Sathvik Nallamalli is a junior at Olympia High School and is representing Washington FBLA as the Capital Region Vice President. Entering the world of FBLA as a freshman, Sathvik had no idea that this organization is for everyone of any background and is what makes it the premier student business platform. Through the many events that he has competed, he learned that FBLA serves to improve the foundations of many students and provide futures to grow from. Sathvik placed 4th at Nationals in Mobile Application Development and since then his passion for apps has skyrocketed. This has taught him that FBLA is a platform for everyone with any interests and holds many opportunities to launch from it. He holds the Future level in BAAs.

Though Sathvik's FBLA journey is truly beginning to start as serving on your behalf, his motivation is endless and his goals are to increase communication and interconnectedness between chapters in his region and to elevate Washington on the National Level. Serving in the past as a chapter officer, Sathvik established many contacts and sponsorships for his whole chapter. He has presented to the County Economic Development Councils to encourage a mentorship partnership between his chapter and local businesses. These and many other experiences have taught Sathvik what it takes to be a strong leader.

Sathvik hopes to attend Johns Hopkins University to study Medicine and Business so he can serve his community and underdeveloped parts of the world by providing a healthy way of life. When Sathvik is not preoccupied with academics, he enjoys spending time with his friends and learning how to cook. Since day one of Sathvik's FBLA journey, his advisers have encouraged him to keep moving forward and reach new heights, he grabbed this opportunity to LEAP from FBLA and hopes to provide everyone the same path. One quote he'll never forget is "we started from the bottom, now we're here" and he hopes to make the same impact on FBLA.
