

Travis Bradford is currently a junior at College Place High School in Walla Walla, Washington. Travis desires to grow and expand the impact of FBLA in his school as well as his region by serving as the 2019-2020 Southeast Region Vice President. This is Travis' third year in FBLA, and in his time as a member he has obtained a few awards, but his most notable award was placing tenth in 3D animation at the National Leadership Conference in Baltimore, Maryland. His advisers have pushed him out of his comfort zone and made him the leader he is today.

Travis hopes to attend DigiPen Institute of Technology to pursue a career in Digital Art and Animation. Travis' motto in life is "Your name is my name," which means you represent who you are associated with, so always be the best you can be for them.
